Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

No one nowadays in Washington even talks of national debt payment. Such talk is about as popular as a polecat in the chicken corral. Why worry, say the oldsters, we wont have to pay it. The youngsters, most of whom do not visualize the national effort necessary to pay, say 100 billions, which may be the debt figure when this "emergency" ends, do not worry either. But the national debt still continues to haunt the rational mind everywhere in the United States. How can we pay it? When shall we make a beginning? For we can't say that we are making a beginning so long as national expenditures far outstrip governmental income. Though of course the tremendous tax bills passed or contemplated do reduce the ultimate colossal debt.

Anybody forty years old today, should remember what happened in postwar days in Germany. The government deliberately permitted and encouraged inflation so that those who had lent the government a gold mark worth 25c during war preparations and operations was in due time paid back in marks worth one cent or less. In other words the busy thrifty people, who had carefully saved their money, invested it in war bonds, were wiped out financially. It was this blow to human integrity, to human thrift and self sacrifice that left the German people ready to follow such a curious, murderous visionary as its present leader.

It is perhaps crying in the wilderness to point out that our present inflationary trend is leading this country down the same road. Leon Henderson, Price Controller, without power to control anything, testifying before a congressional committee, was asked if he didn't think a little inflation would be a good thing. He replied by asking a question: Is a little pregnancy a good thing? The committee was shocked, and according to Time, had the answer stricken from the record. The truth is of course that a little inflation grows to be a bigger inflation and finally a national financial debacle is born. In such a debacle, not only are those who have lent money to the government, money worth 100 cents on the dollar, finally paid off in printing press money, worth less than paper napkins, but every investor, savings depositor, life insurance policy holder, home or ranch owner, any one with a title to any property whatever, is wiped out financially along with the government's creditors.

The German government after the war was admittedly weak, and especially weak on the moral side. Expediency ruled its domestic policies. Instead of Wilson's fourteen points, the Germans got a rough deal at Versailles, and national morale was extremely low. But when the national debts were paid with worthless paper, quite naturally the thrifty people who had built up a great national reservoir of wealth, normally used for promoting world trade, building better homes, better roads, exploiting the resources of other countries, and for doing the thousand and one things, which all enlightened countries do when civilization is on the march, threw up their hands in despair,

It is for reasons such as this that we believe in taxes, taxes that hit every single voter in the U. S. A. Taxes that burn and sear the human consciousness that teach even the subnormal brain that "what goes up has to come down, on your head or on the ground," but mostly on your head. While Morganthau talks of bigger and better taxes congress still dawdles, still hesitates. The president talks of taxes, too, but no congressman yet believes he means it.

It wont be the New Deal that attempts to pay back the borrowed bilions. And it wont be the millions of government pensioners. It will be a new generation of Americans, scourged and chastened, and awakened to a sober realization that in a democracy, at least, there just can't be any Santa Claus, and at the same time a free people.

As Robert Burns long ago pointed out, no one in debt is independent. A nation in debt is a nation that bears shackles, light or heavy, as the case may be. Indeed our upstanding fathers deemed debt a species of slavery, and the payment of debt, a spirutal and material manumission.

Miners Score Touchdown In Last Few Minutes To Beat Yellowjackets

13 to 6.

That was the score, in Grass Valley's favor, of the annual struggle between that team and the Nevada City Yellowjackets but it doesn't tell the story of tough breaks for the local eleven.

The game was played in Grass Valley Armistice Day and was one of the highlights of the Armistice celebration.

The Yellowjackets, ably coached by Ed Frantz, took a six point lead early in the game, with Floyd (Butch) Ruth leading the way.

A Miner touchdown later tied the count and it continued in a deadlock until the last few minutes of play when Deming Chew, Grass Valley quarterback, engineered some clever plays to put the Miners in Yellowjacket territory. Trying desperately for a score, he tossed a pass to Sam Blight in the end zone for the winning touchdown.

The game was witnessed by one of the argest crowds to see a Miner-Yellowjacket contest in recent years.

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN MAKES ROLL CALL APPEAL

The Nevada City Red Cross workers, who are conducting the annual roll call drive, today heard National Chairman Norman H. Davis appeal for an "America" solidly behind the American Red Cross."

The local roll call workers have already secured many members and will continue their efforts to carry Nevada City over the top.

Chairman Davis in his address said:

"Now that the Roll Call has started and there are many of you that have already joined we wish to tell you the duty of the service.

"More than one million volunteers soon will visit the homes and offices of American to invite their countrymen to renew their pledge of confidence in the Red Cross by joining its ranks as members. It is to this unsung army of workers that these

Forest Service Man Finds Himself In Embarrassing Spot

J. D. Rafferty, law enforcement officer of the Tahoe National Forest, finds himself in an embarrassing position.

Rafferty has often spoke at schools and various other places on the preservation of "our wild life in the forests." In fact, it can probably be said that Rafferty was one of those who believe that by careful driving the killing of a deer by an automobile is practically impossible.

The "impossible" happened, however. While traveling down the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway Rafferty's forest service car struck a buck. The law enforcement officer was forced to kill the deer with an ax because the accident broke two legs of the animal.

Rafferty now has nothing to say on the subject of whether such accidents can be avoided or not.

CANTONMENT PRELIMINARIES COMPLETED

Officials of the zone construction quartermaster office in San Francisco said they could call for bids for barracks and other facilities at the proposed army cantonment in Western Nevada County and Eastern Yuba Counties within ten days after authorization from Washington.

Preliminary surveys and the preparation of general plans have been completed and full reports forwarded to the war department.

If and when funds are made available by the authorities in the national capital, the regional office in San Francisco is prepared to call for bids immediately, it was announced.

The plans, as complete, are drawn on the basis of a cantonment of $30,000 officers and men, including infantry and mechanized units. Costs have been computed at about $20,000,000, exclusive of facilities to be provided by local and private agencies. So far no money has been made available by the war department save for the cost of making the surveys and preparing the plans.

Several other sites also have been inspected by the army from the point of view of military strategy but on none of these has the quartermaster's office so far been instructed to prepare building plans, as was done on the Nevada-Yuba site.

IMMUNIZING CHILDREN AGAINST DREADED DISEASE STARTS HERE TOMORROW

The Nevada City Elementary Parent Teachers Association and Isabel Hefelfinger, school health nurse, have completed plans for the immunizing of local children against diptheria, one of the most deadly diseases of children.

The Nevada City Council is cooperating with the PTA and school authorities in the giving of the diptheria toxoid.

Dr. Bernard W. Hummelt will give the treatment starting at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Elementary School.

The PTA and Mrs. Hefelfinger are making a special effort to have the treatment given to children under school age.

They state the United States public health service advises all children should be immunized against diptheria, and that the highest authorities in preventive medicine are agreed that the disease can be made to disappear through the practice of universal immunization.

The charge for two doses of toxoid will be 50 cents. If your child needs only one dose the charge will be 25 cents. If you are unable to pay and wish this treatment for your child, please contact Mrs. Hefelfinger—Phone 98—or see her personally.

Mrs. Hefelfinger pointed out that children given an immunizing treatment during infancy should receive a single reinforcing dose on entrance to school.

The following procedure is recommended at the age of six to nine months of age:

Two doses of diptheria toxoid should be given at three weeks or one month interval. This same procedure should be applied to all children at or below six years of age if they have not been immunized during infancy.

Local Majorettes Strut Stuff In Armistice Day Parade In Grass Valley

Nevada City High School's drum majorettes, attired in their snappy new yellow uniforms, strutted their stuff in the Armistice Day parade in Grass Valley and received the acclaim of the hundreds of persons who lined the streets for the event.

The drum majorettes, led by Germaine Marsh, preceded the Nevada City High School band, one of three bands participating in the parade.

The parade was the highlight of the Armistice fete in Grass Valley. Other participating units were the Nevada County Sheriff's Posse, led by Sheriff Car J. Tobiassen, and the colors of the Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Nevada City.

Following the parade, patriotic exercises were held at the Veterans Memorial Building. The afternoon feature was the annual football game between Grass Valley and Nevada City, won by the Grass Valley eleven 13 to 6. The annual Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion dinner for veterans was held at 6:30, followed by a public dance at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Two Lumber Trucks Collided This Morning

Lambert Almquist, proprietor of a sawmill on Deer Creek, narrowly escaped injury and possibly death this morning when a lumber truck he was operating and one driven by a man known as Metsker, collided on the Quaker Hill Road.

According to reports, the collision resulted in the pushing of the lumber from the Almquist truck bed into the cab, pinning Almquist against the steering wheel.

An investigation of the accident is being made by the California Highway Patrol.

Dogs Tree Bear Instead of Coon; One Dog Killed

William Brady of the Lake Vera district set out Monday night on a coon hunt in the Cement Hill district.

His dogs, instead of picking up the scent of a coon, smelled a bear and soon had the bear and her cub treed.

Brady wasn't prepared for such big game and beside it is against the law to kill bear after sunset. The mother bear dropped out of the tree once to cuff one of Brady's dogs on the back, killing the animal.

The bear is believed to have been the same one spotted in the Cement Hill district by Leslie Orzalli. Farmers of that area are fearful the bear may make a raid on their sheep and other defenseless stock.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON RISE OF BILL OF RIGHTS

Walter Carlson, past president of the Rotary club, and county superintendent of schools, at the Rotary luncheon today, gave an interesting address on the origin and rise of the bill of rights, as embodied in the Constitution of the United States. He declared that the strength of a nation lies not in rich soil great natural endowments, or in overwhelming military power, but in its steadfast allegiance to its ideals.

Beginning as far back as the rebellion of the Jewish slaves in Egypt, 600,000 of them, who rose as one man, and, under the leadership of Moses, wandered for 40 years seeking a land of peace and freedom, humanity has constantly striven to the four freedoms, defined by President Roosevelt. Moses presented to his people tablets of stone on which were graven some of the political freedom that men, through the intervening ages, have defended and, if need be, died for.

In Greece, during the Golden Age, democracy, which, in its purest essence seeks the actual brotherhood of man, had its first trial. In the Republican era of Rome, that ended shortly before the birth of Christ, the ideals of justice and personal freedom were advanced. After these were all lost in darkness of the Middle Ages, in the Renaissance in Italy in the fifteenth century, men began again to recover their vanished freedoms. This followed by the Reformation in Germany, establishing religious freedom, and upheavals of the English people rebelling against the exactions of their Norman masters, carried the fight to point where a parliament ruled instead of kings. The battle was continued in America, when this country severed its relations with England, because of the injustice of taxes levied without representation. So today, as the president points out, the battle for freedom is a continuing battle, in which those who win freedom must still fight to hold it.

Frightened Deer Jump Against Side of Car

Mrs Cora Gregor of Grass Valley, well known in this city, had the sad experience of striking a deer with her car in the Cedar Ridge section Monday afternoon.

The deer apparently had been frightened and jumped into the side of the car. It was dazed by the blow. Game Warden Ear Hiscox happened by and he seemed to think the animal had a broken shoulder. Hiscox prepared to take the deer to the MacBoyle ranch to give it a chance to recover from the injury but the deer regained its senses and disappeared into the brush.

ARE YOUNGSTERS SMARTER?

(By Leone Baxter)

Are modern young people perhaps just a little smarter about things in general, a little faster on the up-take than their parents and grandparents before them?

"My 16-year-old son has convictions on everything under the sun," a father remarked recently, "He thinks deep thoughts on subjects that I never knew existed at his age—on international credits and what the fleet will do if Japan makes a false step, on which of the current war 'diaries' are fact and which fiction. He is as well informed on the strike situation in defense industries as he is about the standngs of the conference teams or the name bands."

Whether or not youngsters are smarter, they most certanly have more facts and figures hurled at them these days than any earlier generation ever did. They have easier knowledge of what goes on across the world than their grandfathers had of events transpiring in the next town.

Considering all the gratuituous information showered on them, it would be surprising if alert young minds did not form opinions on matters political, philosophical and social. Assimilating that information is a real job. Sorting it, piecing it together, analyzing and forming conclusions. It is the biggest, hardest job in the world today. The great job of thinking.

Ralph Waldo Emerson admitted that, "The hardest task in the world is to think."

Benjamin DeCasseres says it another way: "There is always someone waiting to do your thinking for you. After that he puts the ball and chain on your feet. If we Americans would only do our own thinking, each one individually, instead of being swayed by groups and propaganda, no ologies and isms spawned abroad could make any headway here!"

It is a good thing youth is learning to utilize the data dealt out to it so prodigally. Some of its theories will fail to jell; some will be wrong, as those of men before them have been. But if in the process youth learns early how to sift the true from the false, to detect propaganda, to reason in the face of emotional appeal, to make decisions and stand behind them—youth will have helped to restore the dignity of self determination, the precious concept of individualism—both too far lost in the world today.

PHEASANT AND QUAIL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

November 15 is a red letter day for California hunters with the season opening one-half hour before sunrise on quail, pheasant, brush and cottontail rabbits.

According to reports from wardens of the State Division of Fish and Game, there are plenty of quail and shooting should be good unless there is more rain between now and opening day. Rain will scatter the birds and they will be difficult to find. The bag limit on quail is 10 per day in the aggregate of all species, and 20 per calendar week.

Pheasants are reported to be in abundance, cocks are bunched up and in full plumage. Only two male pheasants may be taken in one day, with two in possession, and eight during the ten day season. When making plans to shoot pheasants, hunters should remember the following counties are closed: Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, El Dorado, Marin, Mariposa, Nevada, Plumas, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Trinity and Tuolumne. Modoc County east of the Warner Mountains and north of the Mill Creek Road and north of the road extending easterly from Lake City to the Nevada State line, will be closed to pheasant shooting; and Siskiyou County west of Highway 99 and Highway 97, excepting Scott River watershed. Fish and Game District 2 1-2 in Mendocino County will also be closed.

CHIEF JUSTICE HOPES TO SPEED UP JUSTICE

Phil S. Gibson, Chief Justice of California, pledged today speedier and less expensive justice in the appellate courts of California.

In a letter to Philip H. Angell president of the State Bar of California, Justice Gibson stated, "we expect that the normal period for an appeal will be less than one year, from the entry of judgment to the filing of an opinion." The average period now is three years.

He believes this speed up will be the result of a "determined effort to clear up all arrears in cases" of the Supreme Court and the appellate courts of the state.

The united work of the State Bar and the State Judicial Council, furthermore, he believes will simplify court procedure to the point where it will be even more speedy and less expensive.

Under a new law, sponsored by the State Bar, the Judicial Council has power to remake the rules of appellate procedure with the aim of "streamlining" California court procedure. The new rules will be presented to the next session of the California legislature.

SINGAPORE IS KEY TO PACIFIC SAYS STEINER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Singapore is the wey to the Pacific and its fate is as important to the United States as it is to England, the Dutch East Indies or China.

So says Dr. H. Arthur Steiner, associate professor of political science on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, who returned recently from a 20,000 mile trip through the Far East.

"The United States should be interested in Singapore for four reasons," he points out. "In the first place we receive important raw materials such as rubber and tin from that area. Second, it plays an important part in American naval defense. Third, it occupies an important position with relation of delivery, of materials to Great Britain. And finally, it is equally important for continuing China's resistance."

Dr. Steiner said that there is no doubt that the United States Navy would go to war should an attack be delivered against Singapore or the Dutch East Indies. He said that it is no secret that the British have prepared this great naval base for use by the American Navy, if and when such an occasion should arise.

A Step AHEAD Of the Good Old Days

In the archives of memory, perhaps misrepresented under the cataloging of "those good old days," is stored the tiresome, "daylight to dark" trip to San Francisco. The spinning cycle of time has wrought travel changes that are pleasant, fast and far less inexpensive than those of a generation ago. Now—travelers from this area can choose a destination to almost any corner of this great California and, by Southern Pacific train or sleek-lined Greyhound bus reach that destination before the sun dips behind the hills.

The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company not only stepped up its own travel service through adoption of highway passenger carriers and expedited schedules but fashioned this improved service to dove-tail with the prolific schedules of the Southern Pacific Railroad and Greyhound company. The Narrow Gauge Railroad Company now commands exacting travel service accommodations to any point in the United States!

Freight deliveries have kept pace. Of brilliance in example are the "overnight freight service from San Francisco" and the "4-hour service from Sacramento." These services, coupled with the very popular store-door delivery effects a combine whereby the merchants of the twin cities receive merchandise in least possible time, reducing the need of carrying overburdened stocks or crowding stores with merchandise not momentarily needed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder, as words filled with fury
Roar over our heads and away,
To find them less savage and ruthless
Than those of a long ago day.
Are speech makers now less ferocious,
Or are they a bit more refined.
These questions and others related,
Are now uppermost in my mind.

I wonder if modern members of the Ancient Order of Diatribers are as keen-edgedly efficient as those of former years.

The old time Diatribers—say those of Washington's day were a rather terriffic lot; they launched scathing assaults upon their adversaries. They thundered denunciations and hurled invectives. They did not "smear" reputations, they besmirched and blasted them. Their tongues were forked, their pens were dipped in vitrol.

This much however, may be said in favor of our early day diatribers. Their material was original. It followed no foreign pattern; their vilifications, vitupertons and expletives were their own. Each member of the order spoke in his own tongue.

It is indeed strange that here, in America the beautiful the heaviest and cruelest lashes of vituperative abuse should hiss and crackle about the man in the White House. However from Washington's day to our own, such has been the case, and at one time, the wife of an American president became the object of scurrulous and vindicative vilification. That is a blot upon the scutcheon which time itself cannot erase.

It may be just as well that modern diatribers lack the gifts of biting sarcasm and scintillating wit which barbed the tongues of their predecessors. After all, domestic tranquillity is our first consideration, so I, for one, would feel inclined to excuse the masses of puerile twaddle which emanate from the nation's capital and all points around and about, if it had the virtue of originality and was not at times calculated to afford Mr. Schicklegruber satisfaction, aid and comfort.

I wonder how National Defense Week will be spent. Of course there will be much impassioned oratory, band playing and flag waving; national leaders will corrugate their brows and rack their brains, soldiers will march, drill and practice war tactics; thousands of workers will carry on, while others valiantly man the picket lines; irresponsible women will rush from ill kempt homes to wave silly banners and hurl eggs with feminine grace and precision. Old General Public will pay his November taxes and mutter wearily "the worst is yet to come."

And we, you and I, who may feel that our part in the great world drama of today is a rather unimportant one. Oh, but there is something for us to de; we can aid in defeating that most dangerous of all fifth columns, intolerance, by banishing it from our thoughts and lives forever. Let us remember at all times, that a nation's first line of defense, lies in the minds of its citizenry.

Uncle Silas says: "Do you think that fair—ladies—who arm themselves with eggs and tomatoes for throwing purpose and then go forth to enjoy their inherent rights of peaceful assemblage, should be arrested for carrying concealed weapons? And do you think that their children will grow up to be orderly and well behaved lads and lassies?—A. Merriam Conner.

MORE ABOUT RED CROSS

words are now addressed.

"It is currently indicated that our World War membership must be paraleled if we are to effectively discharge our responsibilities. To some of you, this figure may seem difficult of achievement.

"Yet early Roll Calls throughout the country indicate that such an increase is not only possible but probable. With America solidly behind the American Red Cross, we can not fail.

"Me 'must' not fail. We have rapidy expanded our services and are shouldering vast new responsibilities for defense. The pattern of our relief task abroad changes but it does not grow lighter. We may justifiably ask that every loyal American rally to our standard.

"The recruiting of nurses for the Army and Navy; essential training for our civilian defense forces—these things must be done quickly. Above all, the Red Cross must fulfill its charter obligations to America's armed forces. Remember—we are the only organization privileged to work with the men in camps, bases and hospitals, and their families back home. Surely each boy who pledges his life to our defense has the right to turn to his Red Cross in time of personal trouble.

"To make this sacred guarantee valid, you, our volunteer Roll Call army—let's aim at total enrollment.

"So let us step forward together, the people of America and their Red Cross. The moment of crisis has come when Red Cross membership may be adjudged the first great expression of loyalty to America and the things for which she stands."

STATE PUBLIC WORKS HIT BY DEFENSE NEEDS

By T. M. BRIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13—(UP)—Small businessmen who are complaining of the difficulty of obtaining materials and of high wages can move over and give the state of California place on the same mourners' bench.

At the first meeting of the governor's council in recent months, state department heads agreed that qualified workers in some brackets are almost impossible to obtain at present state wage scales.

Also, Director of Finance George Killion said it may be necessary to suspend most public works for the duration of the emergency. Highway work will go forward, Public Works Director Frank W. Clark said, but budgeted amounts for specific projects may have to be revised in view of an average 40 per cent jump in the cost of materials.

However, budgets of most departments are not so flexible as those of the division of highways, and if costs of buildings, for instance, exceed the amount allowed by the legislature the projects will have to be abandoned for the time, Killion said.

A $500,000 addition to the Stockton state hospital was mentioned as an example. Dr. Aaron Rosanoff, director if institutions, said it was possible now to get an addition only with half the needed capacity for the money and that building would be postponed.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Is it necessary to be a high school graduate in order to enlist in the Navy?

No. Navy enlistees need not be high school graduates. All applicants will be given an examination containing approximately 100 questions. A grade of 50 per cent or better on this examination is sufficiently high to pass the Navy educational standards. However, a high school education will be valuable to the seaman during his Navy enlistment.

If I enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve, will I be sent to a Navy Trade School?

All new recruits are sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and after a training period they may take examinations for entrance into Navy Trade Schools. Those recruits who pass their examinations with sufficiently high grades are sent to Navy Trade Schools before assignment to the fleet. While attending these schools, they will receive regular Navy pay and free schooling valued at $1500.

What is the greatest possible pay I can expect to earn during my first term of enlistment?

It is possible to earn as much as $126 a month by the end of your first term of enlistment, and remember that your clothing, lodging, medical and dental care are all supplied free.

After I have served my term of enlistment, what benefits do I get for re-enlistment?

Depending on your rate and length of service, you can get a cash bonus up to $300 plus 30 days leave with pay.

What does the term "ash can" mean in the Navy?

An "ash can" is a slang term applied to the depth charge used to combat submarines. The average "ash can" is a container filled with approximately 300 pounds of T.N.T. and can be dropped overboard from a ship and so controlled as to explode at depths ranging from 36 to 300 feet. These are generally carried by the fast ships in the fleet, as a boat dropping a charge regulated to explode at 70 feet depth must move away from the explosion area at a speed of 25 knots or more. These "ash cans" are either rolled off the stern or shot from "y-guns" which hurl one right and one left simultaneously.

LABOR UNIONS READY TO TURN OUT RACKETEERS

By CLEM WHITAKER

The man who works—and wears a union button on his cap, or perhaps on his shirt or coat lapel—is a firm believer in the secret ballot, when it comes election time, and a staunch advocate of old-fashioned American democracy.

If some outsider invaded his polling place on election day and tried to sneak a look at how he was marking his ballot, or sought to direct his voting, he would blow his top and yell for the cops. He knows his rights as an American citizen and he would fight for them at the drop of a hat.

But strangely enough, millions of these same proud, self-reliant men, who have lost the right of secret ballot in their own union halls—and have permitted themselves to be led around by the nose by arrogant union bosses who control their very existence and their right to earn a livelihood for their families.

In only a small minority of the unions in California does the secret ballot still exist. In only a few union halls do rank and file members have any actual decision when it comes to determining whether they should stay on the jobs, or go out on strike. In most unions, democratic processes have long since been discarded and the union men who insisted on them would be likely to end up in a dark alley, slugged and manhandled.

But the man who wears a union button, and who has stood for more from his union boss than he would ever take from a governor or a president—just because he thought it was being done in the name of unionism—is gradually recognizing that he has been flim-flammed and short-changed and union lobar in California will shortly stage a man-sized revolt that will make political history in union labor!

That, at any rate, is the behind-the-scene story as it has been brought to this writer, and there is evidence on every hand that the revolt is slowly gathering. The sordid court room revelations of the gigantic shakedown engineered by Willie Bioff helped to bring matters to a head. But that, actually, was just the spark which ignited the conflagration. Rank and file workers in California are sick and tired of being called out on strike which they don't want, don't understand—and never authorized. And they are getting hot under the collar at being blamed for slow downs and stoppages in defense production when all their neighbors are making sacrifices to help meet the national emergency.

Don't be surprised, under the circumstances, if there is a drastic turn over soon in union bosses. Union labor in California, if this writer is correctly informed, will shortly go democratic—and insist upon the secret ballot!

WHY LEGISLATORS WANT PAY RAISE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13—(UP)—One of constitutional amendments on next year's ballot is the raising of state legislators' salaries from $100 per month to $200 per month, which is a vital factor in the growing practice of state officials acting as attorneys before various state bodies.

The small salary for members of the legislature, particularly in recent years when the cost of living has gone up, has resulted in election of many lawmakers who must find outside income. A topflight business executive or attorney is not apt to sacrifice his income and time to serve in the legislature when the pay is so small.

No one has any complaint against a state legislator conducting an outside business but the ethics involved becomes a bit strained when a lawyer member of the legislature turns up before state boards and commissions representing clients.

For example, consider the plight of the state personnel board or the state reclamation board, or any other body receiving support from the legislature, when a legislator represents a client against the board. It is human nature to want to avoid offending someone who is in a position to retaliate.

The same question of legality versus ethics was brought to the attention of Governor Olson as regards some state officials practicing before other state boards. One case in point was that of Ivan C. Sperbeck, an Olson appointee on the state personnel board, who is an attorney of record in a $19,000 damage claim against the reclamation board. The claim was filed originaly by E. V. Miller, who succeeded Sperbeck as personnel board secretary and formerly was a member of the reclamation body.

Parenthetically, another claimant before the board is represented by William P. Rich, president pro-tem of the state senate.

The governor called a conference of various state officials involved and made a pointed request that he would appreciate it if they would refrain from appearing as attorneys.

Why not choose the NAVAL RESERVE!

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT
by the Secretary of the Navy

"All men now enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be retained on active Navy duty throughout the period of the national emergency, but they will be released to inactive duty as soon after the emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment."

Frank Knox
SECRETARY OF THE NAVY

HERE IS THE OPPORTUNITY THAT THOUSANDS OF MEN HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR

Here is your opportunity to have all the advantages and privileges of Navy life but with a shorter enlistment.

Many men do not realize—but it is a fact—that your pay, your training, and your chances for advancement in the Naval Reserve are exactly the same as in the Navy itself.

FREE TRAINING WORTH $1500

Take your own case. Let's assume that you have had no special training. In that case here is your opportunity to learn one of the Navy's 45 big-pay trades, from aviation engineering to radio. You may receive training worth $1500 the first year alone. In addition you get all the advantages listed in the second column of this announcement.

HIGHER PAY OPPORTUNITIES

But perhaps you have had special training or know a trade. In that case the Naval Reserve offers you the opportunity to use your knowledge. If you qualify (high school or college not necessary), you can join as a petty officer right away—with higher pay and allowances.

Also, if you have two or more years of college credits, there are special opportunities to become a Naval aviator or a commissioned officer.

LOOK WHAT THE U. S. NAVAL RESERVE OFFERS YOU

FREE TRAINING worth $1500. Nearly 50 trades and vocations to choose from.

GOOD PAY with regular increases. You may earn up to $126 a month.

EACH YEAR you are entitled to a generous vacation period, with full pay.

GOOD FOOD and plenty of it.

FREE CLOTHING. A complete outfit of clothing when you first enlist. (Over $100 worth.)

FREE MEDICAL CARE, including regular dental attention.

FINEST SPORTS and entertainment any man could ask for.

TRAVEL, ADVENTURE, THRILLS—You can't beat the Navy for them!

BECOME AN OFFICER. Many can work for an appointment to the Naval Academy or the Annapolis of the Air at Pensacola.

FUTURE SUCCESS. It's easy for Navy trained men to get good-paying jobs in civil life.

In any case, it is your chance of a lifetime to lead a healthy, exciting life . . . your chance to travel . . . and at the same time build a solid foundation for your future. There is nothing better than modern Navy Training for a successful career in civil life.
